2. Announcement on compliance with Vietnamese standards and accounting system

The company applies Vietnamese Accounting Standards and supplement documents issued by the State. Consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with regulations of each standard and supplement documents as well as with current accounting system.

IV. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLE

1. Basis for preparing consolidated financial statements

The consolidated financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis (except for cash flow information).

The consolidated financial statements include the financial statements of the parent company and its subsidiaries. A subsidiary is an entity controlled by the parent company. Control exists when the parent company has the power to govern the financial and operating policies of an entity so as to obtain benefits from its activities. Potential voting rights that are exercisable or convertible are taken into account in assessing control. The results of subsidiaries acquired or sold during the year are included in the consolidated income statement from the date of acquisition or up to the date of disposal of the investment in the subsidiary.

In case the accounting policy of a subsidiary is different from the accounting policy applied at the Parent Company, the financial statements of the subsidiary will be adjusted appropriately before being used for consolidation of the report.

Balances of accounts in the balance sheet of companies in the same group, intra-group transactions, and unrealized profits arising from these transactions are eliminated in preparing the consolidated financial statements. Unrealized losses arising from intra-group transactions are also eliminated when the costs creating such losses are not recoverable.

Minority interests represent the profits and net assets of a subsidiary not held by the parent and are presented in a consolidated line item in the interim consolidated income statement and interim consolidated balance sheet. Minority interests consist of the amount of the minority interests at the date of the original business combination and the minority's share of changes in equity since the date of the combination. Losses attributable to the minority in excess of the minority's interest in the equity of the subsidiary are allocated against the Group's interests except to the extent that the minority has a binding obligation and is able to make an additional investment to cover the losses.

2. Types of exchange rates applied in accounting

Economic transactions arising in foreign currencies are converted into Vietnamese Dong at the actual exchange rate at the time of the transaction. At the end of the year, foreign currency items classified as assets are the foreign currency buying rate, and foreign currency items classified as liabilities are the foreign currency selling rate of the commercial bank where the enterprise regularly conducts transactions at the time of preparing the Financial Statements.

Actual exchange rate differences arising during the year and exchange rate differences due to revaluation of balances of monetary items at the end of the year are transferred to financial revenue or expenses during the year.

3. Principles for recording cash and cash equivalents

Cash includes cash at the fund, demand deposits in bank, monetary gold used with value storage functions, excluding gold classified as inventory used for the purpose of raw materials to manufacture products or goods for sale.

Cash equivalents are short-term investments with a maturity of no more than 3 months from the date of purchase, easily convertible into a specified amount of money and without much risk in conversion into money.

4. Principles of accounting receivables and other receivables

Receivables are presented at their carrying value minus provisions for doubtful debts.

The classification of receivables as trade receivables and other receivables is done according to the following principles:

- Trade receivables reflect receivables of a commercial nature arising from transactions, including receivables from consignment export sales to other entities.
- Other receivables reflect non-commercial receivables unrelated to buying and selling transactions.

Provision for doubtful debts represents the value of receivables that the Company expects to incur or be unable to recover at the end of the accounting period. Increase or decrease in provision account balance is accounted for in corporate management expenses on the consolidated income statement.

Receivables are presented as short-term and long-term based on the remaining term of the receivables.

5. Principle of evaluating inventories

Inventories are recognized at the lower of cost and net realizable value.

The cost of inventories is determined as follows:

- Raw materials and merchandise: Includes purchase costs and other direct costs incurred to bring the inventories to their current location and condition.
- Finished goods: Includes the main raw material costs, direct labor costs, and related general manufacturing costs allocated based on normal operating levels.
- Work in progress: Includes main raw material costs, direct labor costs, and general manufacturing costs.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price of inventories at the end of the period minus the estimated costs to complete and sell them.

MGROUP GROUP CORPORATION

The cost of inventories is calculated using the weighted average method and is accounted for on a perpetual basis.

An provision is made for devaluation of inventories for each inventory item whose historical cost is greater than its net realizable value. Increase or decrease in balance of the provision for devaluation of inventories that need to be appropriated at the balance sheet date is recognized at cost of goods sold.

6. Principles for recognition and depreciation of tangible fixed assets

Fixed assets are presented at historical cost less accumulated depreciation. The historical cost of fixed assets includes all costs incurred by the enterprise to acquire the fixed assets until they are in a condition ready for use. Subsequent expenditures are only added to the historical cost of fixed assets if these expenditures certainly increase the future economic benefits from using the asset. Expenditures that do not meet this condition are recognized as production and business expenses in the period.

When fixed assets are sold or disposed of, the historical cost and accumulated depreciation are written off, and any gains or losses arising from the disposal are recognized in income or expenses for the year.

Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis. Annual rates calculated to write off the cost of each asset evenly over its expected useful life as follows:

Asset	Depreciation period (year)
	Current year	Previous year
- Transportation facilities	06	06

Cost of fixed assets and depreciation time are determined by Circular No.45/2013/TT/BTC dated 25/04/2013 issued by the Ministry of Finance on guidance on management, use and depreciation of fixed assets and other regulations.

7. Cost of basic construction in progress

Construction in progress reflects costs directly related (including interest expenses related in accordance with the company's accounting policy) to assets under construction, machinery and equipment being installed for production, leasing and management purposes as well as costs related to repairs of fixed assets in progress. These assets are recorded at original cost and are not depreciated.

8. Principles of recognition and allocation of prepaid expenses

Prepaid expenses only related to present fiscal year are recognised as short-term prepaid expenses and are recorded into operating costs.

The calculation and allocation of long-term prepaid expenses to profit and loss account in the period should be based on nature of those expenses to choose reasonable method and allocated factors. Prepaid expenses are allocated partly into operating expenses on a straight-line basis.

9. Commercial advantage

Goodwill arising in a business combination that does not result in a parent-subsidary relationship is amortized to expense using the straight-line method.

10. Principles for recognizing liabilities and accrued expenses

Liabilities and accrued expenses are recognized for amounts payable in the future related to goods and services received. Accrued expenses are recognized based on reasonable estimates of the amount payable.

The classification of liabilities into trade payables and other payables is performed according to the following principles:

MGROUP GROUP CORPORATION

Address: 19th Floor, Indochina Park Tower, No.4 Nguyen Dinh Chieu, Ward Da Kao, District 1, HCM City

- Trade payables reflect the amounts payable of a commercial nature arising from transactions of purchasing goods, services, assets, and the seller is an independent entity from the Company, including amounts payable upon import through a trustee.
- Accrued expenses reflect the amounts payable for goods and services received from the seller or provided to the buyer but not yet paid due to the absence of invoices or incomplete accounting documents, and amounts payable to employees for vacation wages, production, and business expenses to be accrued.
- Other payables reflect the amounts payable that are not of a commercial nature, not related to the transactions of buying, selling, or providing goods and services.

11. Principle of equity recognition

Owner's investment capital

Owner's investment capital is recognized according to the amount actually invested by the shareholders.

Profit distribution

Profit after corporate income tax is distributed to shareholders after appropriations to funds as per the Company Charter and legal regulations, and as approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders.

12. Principles and methods of revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when it is probable that the company will receive economic benefits that can be reliably determined. Revenue is determined at the fair value of amounts received or to be received after deducting trade discounts, sales rebates and sales returns. The following specific conditions must also be met before revenue is recognized as follows:

Revenue from service provision

Revenue from service provision is recognized when the outcome of the transaction can be reliably measured. If the service provision spans multiple periods, revenue is recognized in the period based on the results of the work completed by the end of the accounting period. The outcome of the service provision transaction is determined when the following conditions are met:

Revenue is determined with relative certainty;

Economic benefits associated with the service transaction are probable;

The stage of completion of the transaction at the end of the financial year can be measured;

The costs incurred for the transaction and the costs to complete the transaction can be measured.

Interest

Interest is recognized on an accrual basis, determined by the balance of the deposit accounts and the actual interest rates per period.

13. Principle of cost recognition

Cost of goods sold in the year was recorded in accordance with the revenue generated in the period and ensured compliance with the prudent principle.

For the cost of direct materials consumed in excess of the normal rate, labor costs, and fixed production overheads that are not allocated to the value of warehoused products, the accountant must immediately calculate them into the cost of goods sold (after deducting compensation, if any) even if the product or goods have not been identified as being sold.

Provision for devaluation of inventories is charged to cost of goods sold on the basis of inventories and the difference between the net realizable value and the cost of inventories. When determining the volume of inventory that is subject to a decline in value for which a provision is made, the accountant must exclude the volume of inventory that has been signed for sale (with a net realizable value not lower

14. Principles of financial expense recognition

Reflects financial operating expenses including expenses or losses related to financial investment activities, costs of lending and borrowing capital, costs of contributing capital to joint ventures and associations, losses on transferring short-term securities, costs of selling securities; Provision for devaluation of trading securities, provision for losses on investments in other entities, losses arising from selling foreign currencies, exchange rate losses...

15. Principles of recording selling expenses, administrative expenses

Selling expenses is used to record expenses actually incurred in process of selling products, goods, providing services, including publicity expenses, demonstration expenses, advertising expenses, sale commission, warranty charges of goods and products (excluding construction activity), maintenance charges, cost of packing, transportation...

Administrative expenses is used to record overhead costs of business including salary expenses of business' administrative staffs (salary, wages, subsidies,...); social insurance, medical insurance, labor union expenses, unemployment insurance of administrative staff, expenses of office materials, labor instruments, depreciation of fixed assets used for administration, lease rent, licence tax, provision for bad debts, outsourced services (electricity, water, telephone, fax, assets warranty, fire and explosive accidents,...) other cash expenses (expenses of entertainment, customer conference...).

16. Principles of recording corporate income tax expenses

Corporate income tax expenses recognized in the income statement include current corporate income tax expenses and deferred corporate income tax expenses

Current corporate income tax expenses are determined based on taxable income and the corporate income tax rate in the current period.

17. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the profit after corporate income tax (after setting up bonus and welfare funds) allocated to shareholders owning the company's common shares by the average amount. weighted number of common shares outstanding during the year.

Diluted earnings per share is calculated by dividing the net income or loss after tax, allocated to ordinary shareholders of the company, by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year, plus the weighted average number of common shares that would be issued if all potentially dilutive common shares were converted into common shares

18. Segment reporting

Segment reporting includes a business segment or a geographical segment.

Business segment: A distinguishable component of an entity that is engaged in providing an individual product or service or a group of related products or services and that is subject to risks and returns that are different from those of other business segments.

Geographical segment: A distinguishable component of an entity that is engaged in providing products or services within a particular economic environment and that is subject to risks and returns that are different from those of components operating in other economic environments.

FINANCIAL STATEMENTSNotes to the consolidated financial statements (Cont.)*6. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that a counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including deposits with banks and other financial instruments.

Receivable from customers

The Company's customer credit risk is managed based on the Company's policies, procedures and controls relating to customer credit risk management. Outstanding customer receivables are monitored on an ongoing basis. Provisions for doubtful debts are made at the reporting date on a customer-by-customer basis for major customers. On this basis, the Company does not have any concentration of credit risk.

Bank deposits

The majority of the Company's bank deposits are held at large, reputable banks in Vietnam. The Company considers the concentration of credit risk in bank deposits to be low.

7. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the company will have difficulties in paying its financial liabilities. The company's liquidity risks mainly arise from the differences in maturity dates of financial assets and financial liabilities.

The company manages the liquidity risks by maintaining an appropriate amount of cash and cash equivalent that the sufficient as judged by the Directors to meet the company's operation demands in order to minimize the effects of the changes in cash flows to the company.

The terms of payment of financial liabilities are based on the payments supposed to make according to the contracts. Details are as follows:

	Under 1 year	From 1 year to 05 year	Total
Ending balance	5,227,957,904	-	5,227,957,904
Loans	-	-	-
Payable to suppliers	1,565,522,904	-	1,565,522,904
Other payables	3,662,435,000	-	3,662,435,000
Accrued expenses	-	-	-
Beginning balance	7,284,662,865	-	7,284,662,865
Loans	-	-	-
Payable to suppliers	3,707,477,629	-	3,707,477,629
Other payables	3,577,185,236	-	3,577,185,236
Accrued expenses	-	-	-

The Company believes that the concentration of risk with respect to debt repayment is low. The Company is able to repay its debts when they fall due from cash flows from operations and proceeds from maturing financial assets.

8. Market risks

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk includes three types: foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

Foreign currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

The Company manages foreign currency risk by considering current and expected markets when planning for future transactions in foreign currencies. The Company monitors risks to its financial assets and liabilities in foreign currencies.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. The Company's exposure to market interest rate risks relates primarily to short-term deposits and loans.

The Company manages interest rate risk by closely monitoring relevant market conditions to determine appropriate interest rate policies that are conducive to the Company's risk management purposes.

The Company does not perform a sensitivity analysis for interest rates because the risk of changes in interest rates at the reporting date is insignificant or the financial liabilities have fixed interest rates.

Other price risks

Other price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices other than changes in interest rates and foreign exchange rates.

The shares held by the Company may be affected by risks regarding the future value of the investment shares. The Company manages share price risk by setting investment limits and diversifying its investment portfolio.

9. Comparative figures

Comparative figures are figures on the audited Financial Statements for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2023.

10. Information on continuous operation

During the year, no activities or events have arisen that have a significant impact on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Therefore, the Company's separate financial statements are prepared on the assumption that the Company will continue to operate.

11. Other information

Resolution No. 01/2024/NQ-DHĐCĐ dated April 27, 2024 of the 2024 Annual General Meeting of Shareholders approved the proposal on the transfer of shares at Nam Hoa Joint Stock Company. However, as of December 31, 2024, the Company has not yet carried out this transfer.
