Cash include cash on hand, demand deposits and cash in transit. Cash equivalents are short-term investments of which the due dates cannot exceed 03 months from the dates of the investments and the convertibility into cash is easy, and which do not have a lot of risks in the conversion into cash.

4.2 Financial investments

Held-to-maturity investments

The investments are classified as hold-to-maturity when the Corporation has the intention and ability to hold to maturity. The Corporation's held to maturity investments are term bank deposits.

Held-to-maturity investments are initially recognised at historical cost. Interest income from held to maturity investments after the acquisition date is recognised on the separate income statement on an accrual basis.

Loans receivables

Loans receivables are determined at cost less provisions for doubtful debts. Provision for doubtful debts of loans is made based on the expected level of loss that may occur.

Investments in subsidiaries and associates

Subsidiaries are companies controlled by the Corporation. Control is achieved when the Corporation has the ability to control the financial and operating policies of investee companies in order to obtain economic benefits from the activities of these companies.

Associates are companies over which the Corporation has significant influence but not control over the financial and operating policies. Significant influence is the power to participate in financial and operating policy decisions of investee but not to control these policies.

Investments in subsidiaries and associates are initially recorded at cost, including the purchase price or capital contribution plus costs directly related to the investment. In the case of investment in non-monetary assets, the cost of the investment is recorded according to the fair value of the non-monetary assets at the time of generation. Dividends and profits of periods before the investment is purchased are accounted for as a decrease in the value of the investment itself. Dividends and profits of periods after the investment is purchased are recorded in financial income. Dividends received in shares are only tracked by the number of additional shares, the value of the shares received is not recorded.

Provision for devaluation for investments in subsidiaries and associates are made when the subsidiary, associate suffer losses at a level equal to the difference between the parties' actual capital contributions at subsidiaries, associates and actual equity is multiplied by the capital contribution ratio of the Corporation compared to the total actual capital contributions of the parties in the subsidiaries, associates. If the subsidiaries, associates is the subject of consolidated financial statements, the basis for determining provisions for devaluation for investment is the consolidated financial statements. Increases or decreases in provisions for investments losses in subsidiaries, associates that need to be made at the end of the fiscal year are recorded in financial expenses.

Investments in equity instruments of other entities

Investments in equity instruments of other entities include investments in equity instruments where the Corporation does not have the control rights, joint control or significant influence over the investee.

Investments in equity instruments of other entities are initially recognised at historical cost, which includes the acquire price or capital contribution plus direct costs related to investment activities. Dividends and profits of periods before the investment is acquired are accounted for as a devalue of that investment itself. Dividends and profits of periods after the investment is acquired are recognised in financial income. Dividends received in shares are only tracked by the number of additional shares, the value of shares received is not recognised.

Provisions for impairment losses of investments in equity instruments of other entities are made based on the investee's losses at a level equal to the difference between the actual capital contributions of the parties in the other entity and actual equity is multiplied by the Corporation's capital contribution ratio compared to the total actual capital contribution of parties at other entities. Increases and decreases in provisions for impairment losses of investments in equity instruments of other entities that need to be made at the end of the fiscal year are recognised in financial expenses.
